Un doigt dans le pot de confiture (French Edition) Elisabeth Bourgois

Tout en simplicité et sincérité, Elisabeth Bourgois se livre ici et témoigne de la terrible épreuve de perdre son mari en cinq mois seulement, après trente-neuf ans de mariage.

Le lecteur partage avec elle ce choc imprévisible, ses incertitudes, ses questions, ses décisions terribles à prendre, ses moments d'épuisement. Ce qu'elle a voulu avant tout en écrivant ce livre est de rejoindre tous ceux qui vivent l'éprouvante expérience de la maladie, de la souffrance et de la mort qu'ils soient soignants, malades ou famille.

Une réflexion puissante faite de lucidité dans les difficultés, de faiblesse et de peur, mais aussi d'espoir en la Vie.

"Ce n'est pas de moi que j'ai voulu parler dans ce petit livre, mais tout simplement des découvertes que j'ai faites car, en toutes circonstances, il y a toujours des instants de grâces, entre sourires et fou-rires, maladresse et génie, tendresse et dévouement, désespérance et merveilleux Amour. "

Elisabeth Bourgois, ancienne infirmière, mère de six enfants, a écrit une vingtaine d'ouvrages surtout des romans sur des sujets de bioéthique ou des romans historiques. Elle est l'auteur de plusieurs scénarios de spectacles historiques. Fréquemment invitée dans des émissions radios ou TV elle donne aussi de nombreuses conférences. Elle a reçu la médaille d'argent de l'Académie des Arts-Sciences-Lettres en juin 2012, pour l'ensemble de son oeuvre littéraire.
